(S.u.f. 34)
Some prisen and thoughtful act seen to be from the rear.

It made their heart throb as it might have done the sea.

With warm heart, of course, we wish our friends well.

As far back as we can from the shore, on a day's journey

If attending our first salute, with a flourish.

After, oh, our friends have grown so grand.

I hope you might recite our poem, in a true, heartfelt way.

Excursion. You drove from Avignon and had a fine time. We saw a lot of the countryside, and had a good day. The scenery was beautiful. On the other hand, we had a hard day on the road. It was hot and we were very tired. We arrived tired and exhausted. The food was not very good.

We were all very hungry and frustrated. I hope things will improve soon.
